ANNE HATHAWAY.

[These verses were transcribed nearly twenty years ago from a copy exhibited in the National Museum in Washington. It bore the catalogue number 93,689, and was labeled thus: "Anne Hathaway: Attributed by Longfellow to Shakespeare." As it is notorious that Shakespeare did not live happily with Anne Hathaway, the indorsement must have been one of the mild pleasantries of Mr. Longfellow. We have never seen the poem in print, and the index to Dr. Samuel Longfellow's life of his brother reveals no mention of it.]Would ye be taught, ye feathered throng,
With Love's sweet notes to frame your song,
To pierce my heart with thrilling lay,
List to my Anne Hathaway.She hath a way to sing so clear,
Phoebus might wondering stoop to hear,
To melt the sad, make blythe the gay,
To charm all hearts, Anne hath a way.

She hath a way,

Anne hath a way,

To breathe delight, Anne hath a way.

When envious breath, and rancorous tooth,
Do soil and bite fair fame and truth,
And merit to distress betray,
To soothe the soul Anne hath a way.She hath a way to chase all care,
To heal all grief, to ease despair,
From foulest night to fairest day,
Thou know'st (fond heart) Anne hath a way.

She hath a way,

Anne hath a way,

To make grief joy, Anne hath a way.

Talk not of gems, the Orient list,
The Diamond, Topaz, Amethyst,
The Emerald mild, the Ruby gay,
Talk of my gem, Anne Hathaway.She hath a way, with her bright eye,
The various lusters to defy,
The jewel she, the foil they,
So sweet to look, Anne hath a way.

She hath a way,

Anne hath a way,

To shame bright gems, Anne hath a way.

But to my fancy were it given
To rate her charms I'd call them heaven.For, though but mortal made of clay, Angels might love Anne Hathaway.She hath a way so to control,
And rapture the impassioned soul,
And sweetest treasure on earth display,
That to be heaven, Anne hath a way.

She hath a way,

Anne hath a way,

To be heaven's self, Anne hath a way.

SOFT SOAP.

"Yes, dear," said the petted young wife, examining her Christmas gift,
"these diamond earrings are pretty but the stones are awfully small."
"Of course, my dear," replied the diplomatic husband, "but if they were any larger they'd be all out of proportion to the size of your ears."—Philadelphia Press.
